

Alexander Kirousha, Dmitriy Shl... Morena,
Osami Maeda, Yoko Akasaka

Kat Lambert

Oxana Straticuk, Igor Yaremchuk
and Andrei Baranovsky

Come up and see my etchings ...

My first impression, when I went into ARTEast gallery was that Oksana Stratiychuk's pictures looked very familiar, I had definitely seen them before. The place itself was crowded with many people: Oksana's friends, critics, visitors, and the press. Oksana is one of Ukraine's best known printmakers. She applies bright colors to her etchings, which makes them very unique and her fantasy makes you believe in miracles.

"My daughter is also an artist, - says Kat Lambert, - and when she first came here from the US last year, she was very much impressed by the Ukrainian artists and their paintings. "I think that Oksana's etchings are great! They are so feminine and bright!"

Oksana was very easy to recognize: an elegant lady with a smile as bright as her etchings. The room was filled with flowers, the atmosphere was very warm and relaxed with cocktails served and much discussion about Ukrainian art.

By Marina Suponina.

It's good to be with friends

Eric Barden of KPMG